Admission Interview

An admission interview is required for all applicants to the faculties of Pharmacy and Health Sciences.

This personal interview will be conducted to determine the student's potential qualification for these majors. It will cover aspects of personal attributes, motivation, general knowledge, career oriented goals, and behavior-based issues, in addition to general knowledge of the respective profession.

If you are applying to both programs, you are required to choose the interview set by the faculty of your first choice. Yet, the result of this interview will be counted for all other choices (if any).
