ii. Availability & Cost of Health Care

Quality public and private medical care is easily available, with Beirut having the best facilities. Most doctors speak some English. Though it's officially proclaimed safe to drink, many Lebanese won't drink the tap water and stick to bottles.

4. ACCOMMODATION

Being away from your home can be a challenging experience. Students living away from their homes and studying in Beirut or Tripoli Campuses can rent a girls-only or boys-only shared or private apartment from various local renters in these regions. Rent is usually paid yearly (two installments) and varies according to location, size, and students sharing the apartment.

Students studying in Debbieh Campus may choose to stay in local renters in the area.

The student can also book a shared or private apartment in Beirut or near the University campus. For more details visit:
